

Maitre'd

Maitre'd is a simple, cost effective solution for restaurant paging. The system is purpose built for the hospitality industry but may be used in a myriad of industries.

Patron Paging

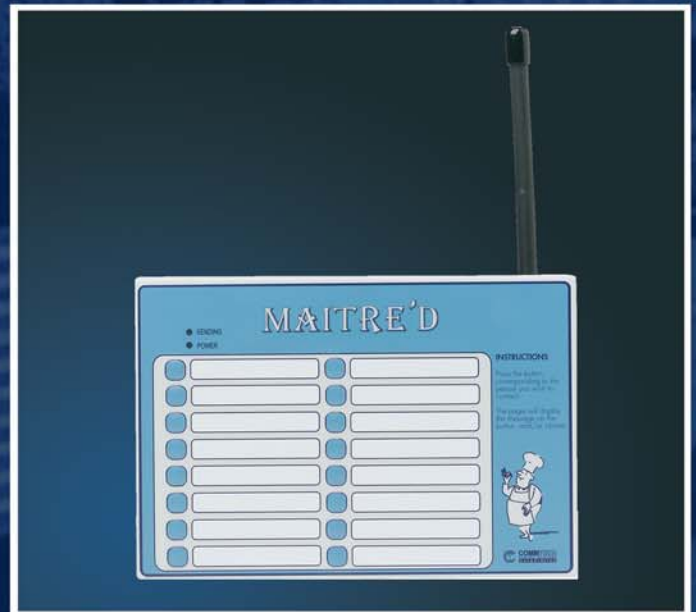

A great deal of time, effort, and expense went into creating the ambiance and atmosphere of your establishment. That ambiance is interrupted by overhead public address systems. The Maitre'd is a customer contacting system that enables food servers to contact customers as soon as the food is ready.

The operation of the system is very simple. When the meal is placed in the serving window the chef (or serving staff) simply presses the corresponding button of the patron and the pager vibrates on the customer's table. This ensures that the patron is seated promptly and the food is delivered piping hot.

Staff Paging

Maitre'd may also be used to contact food servers in a busy restaurant. The system is designed for restaurants that pride themselves on customer service and have an active interest in reducing the labour costs associated with high staffing levels. The basis of the system is idle staff cost the same amount of money as busy staff, so by reducing the number of idle staff we increase your bottom line.

In addition to the decreased idle time of your waiters the system ensures that reheats and 'dried out' meals are eliminated which in turn increases customer service and repeat business.
